Several students did not complete the assignment. One way to improve the assignment completion rate would be to increase the point value of the assignment. But, for those students who had already earned the points for the grade they were seeking, that ight not be enough of an inducement. Scheduling this assignment earlier in the semester would be meaningless because asks the students to apply the knowledge and observations skills that they acquire throughout the semester.	2022-02-06

Reflection	Anonymous	This semester was particularly difficult, as students were re-learning how to be classroom students again. Many of the habits of online learning (not paying close attention, being distracted by cell phones, talking during a lecture) will take a while to go away as students open, hopefully, more time in a physical classroom.	2022-01-12
